Advanced Placement American Studies Summer Reading

Welcome to AP American Studies. This assignment will commence your rigorous study of the American experience. You will craft a few relatively short writing pieces in response to texts. This writing should move beyond summary to demonstrate the critical thinking capabilities of questioning, evaluating, and synthesizing. All ideas must be original, and if additional sources are referenced in your written analysis, cite them in proper MLA format. See Purdue University's Online Writing Lab for proper MLA formatting. The completion of all summer work by the first day of class is a requirement of the course.

PART 1: AP Language and Composition

A. The "Other" America

- 1. Critically read and annotate Educated by Tara Westover (memoir)
- 2. Compose an essay that responds to the following question: How does Westover define education? How does your view of education align with or diverge from Westover's perspective? Select pivotal passages from the novel that help develop your argument about education. Analyze how those passages, along with the author's craft, contribute to your argument.

Format: (three-page maximum, Times New Roman, 12pt, double-spaced)

Formative: 70 pts

CRITICAL READERS will show that you can "read between the lines" of the text. You think about the meaning of the text in terms of a larger or universal significance and as an aspect of self or life in general. You carry an ongoing dialogue with the writer; you question, agree, disagree, appreciate, or object to their claims. You are aware of connotations and recognize the impact of language on the audience.

B. Introduction to Rhetoric & American Values

Rhetoric is the art of persuasive speaking or writing, especially in the use of figures of speech and other compositional techniques.

- 1. Read David McCullough's Commencement Speech to Wellesley High School (2012).
- 2. Craft an analysis of the speech by fulfilling the following expectations:
 - a. Identify three devices McCullough uses in his speech (e.g., metaphor, repetition, symbolism, juxtaposition, diction, imagery, allusion, anecdote, etc. ANY LITERARY DEVICE IS UP FOR GRABS) and analyze WHY he uses each particular device. Consider the effect he is trying to have on this audience in particular given the context in which the speech is delivered.
 - b. End your response by answering the following question: What does this speech reveal about American values?

Format: (two-page maximum, Times New Roman, 12pt, double-spaced)

Formative: 30 pts

Part 2 A.P. United States History

All assignments should be posted to the designated title in Classwork on our Google Classroom page.

- 1. Comparing historical sources: Read Give Me Liberty! chapters 1-3 and A Voyage Long and Strange chapters 9 and 13.
 - A. As you read Give Me Liberty!, take notes on each of the three chapters. These will not be collected and are for your own review. Taking notes on assigned readings will be invaluable for your preparation for all assessments.
 - B. Read the two chapters linked below from Tony Horowitz's A Voyage Long and Strange.

Chapter 9 The Mississippi Conquistador's Last Stand

Chapter 13 Plymouth - A Tale of Two Rocks

- C. For each of the topics below, different information is presented in Give Me Liberty! versus A Voyage Long and Strange. Consider a piece of information that was left out of the text Give Me Liberty! and explain what information, if any, from A Voyage Long and Strange should have been included in the text and why. Also consider the differences in specific words chosen to describe the topic in one text versus the other and provide examples. Complete one paragraph for each of the topics. Paragraphs should be 6-8 sentences. (Focus on these three topics only)
 - a. Spanish conquest
 - b. Founding of Plymouth Colony
 - c. Mound builders

2. Sample Question for the AP US exam.

Use information from Give me Liberty!

- A. Using your knowledge of United States history, answer parts a and b.
 - a. Briefly explain why ONE (1) individual residing within one of the following colonies best represents a value that still shapes the thinking, behavior and actions of Americans today. Consider a value as a non-tangible principle that guides decisions and actions. Provide at least ONE piece of textual evidence from the specific analysis of the individual within the colony to support your explanation. Be certain it is clear which colony and which specific individual you are writing about.
 - Massachusetts Bay Colony
 - Chesapeake Colony
 - Middle colonies: New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania colonies
 - b. Briefly explain why an individual from ONE of the other options above reflects a value in opposition to the value identified above.

 Formative 20 points
- 3. Differing Perspectives"A People's History" vs. "A Patriot's History: "Zinn vs. Schweikert et. al.: Investigating Bias.

A. Read the two chapters linked below and in a brief response of one page, explain the greatest differences between these two versions of history and how the same facts can be interpreted so differently. Use specific quotes to support your claim on the difference. What are the different motives of the writers, and are both legitimate in your opinion? Explain.

Formative: 20 points

Howard Zinn's A People's History of the United States Chapter 1 Columbus, the Indians and Human Progress found in the following link:

http://www.historyisaweapon.com/defcon1/zinncol1.html

Larry Schweikart and Michael Allen's A Patriot's History of the United States Introduction and Columbus material in Chapter 1 found in the following link

B. What major news story over the summer interests you? Choose one story and find a contrast of opinions from credible news organizations (i.e. Peggy Noonan WSJ vs. Maureen Dowd NYT). This should be two arguments presenting differing views on the same story. Cut and paste both stories (with links) into a google doc. In a single page response at the end, investigate: how do the same facts lead to different conclusions? Where does the truth lie?

Formative: 20 points

4. History around us:

- A. Visit a historical site, with one of your classmates, a family member or friend or by yourself and share your experience. Take a picture of you at the location and upload to our Amstud summer Field Trip padlet. There are plenty of historical sites to visit here in Fairfield or any of the surrounding towns and cities. Contact any of the town historical societies or museums or just do a Google search of historical sites to visit in Fairfield County.

 Formative: 5 points
- B. Write a Horwitz inspired fragment from your experience. If you visited with a classmate then write it together. You can even type out or record yourself having a conversation. Emulate how Horwitz moved from narrative to commentary and his mode of lifting a facade to reveal an inner truth. Your site could be a NJ boardwalk, an Appalachian cabin, or one of the many historic buildings, memorials, cemeteries or monuments here in Fairfield. This should not be longer than 1 page (2 if you are working with a partner) but certainly it can be done effectively in ½ a page (1 page if with a partner)
